

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Questions and Answers about "What Makes a Good Tire?"

Question—Does any one single feature make a good tire?
Answer—No.

Question—Then what does make a good tire?

Answer—The perfection of all the different operations that are necessary in producing the finished product from tree to tire.

Question—As for example?

Answer—The success of the United States Royal Cord Balloon in delivering true balloon cushioning and comfort, and yet giving long-lasting service is largely due to these six important factors:

Plantations

The United States Rubber Company owns and operates scientific Rubber Plantations in Sumatra and Malaya. Has 7,000,000 rubber trees, all yielding latex now, from which this Company produces its Sprayed Rubber and its Latex-treated Web Cord.

Sprayed Rubber

Of the greatest importance, because of its fine quality, and its freedom from acid and smoke. Briefly, the latex is sprayed into a chamber containing hot, dry air, which dries out the liquid from the latex, leaving the pure, solid rubber. This does away with the old methods of smoke-drying and acid coagulation.

Uniform Cotton Cord

To insure absolute uniformity and high quality of the cotton cord used in United States Tires, the United States Rubber Company operates its own cotton mills at Winnsboro, South Carolina. Here the choicest grade cotton is made into cords to meet the rigid requirements of the tire factories where it is used to produce Latex-treated Web Cord.

Latex-treated Web Cord

Also an invention of the United States Rubber Company. The cords are laid parallel without tie-threads, and soaked in virgin rubber latex, which forms an elastic web through and through and between the cords. Important because it gives the cord structure maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

Flat-Band Method of Building Tires

Do not miss the importance of this revolutionary improvement in tire-building. The new way it works is highly technical. But the result is that each cord in a United States Royal Cord is made to lie in exactly the right position, under precisely the right tension, and to take its due share of the work.

Searching Tests from the Tree to the Tire
United States Tire tests begin with the raw materials—and these tests never stop. Many tests are made during the process of manufacture and finished tires undergo various factory tests such as the "Tread Wear Test" illustrated. Even after the tires are sold and in use, their performance on the road is being checked by factory-trained experts stationed all over the country.

PASSENGER AVIATION.

A recent despatch from London stated that on the previous day 400 persons traveled from England to France by airplane. The passenger air service from London to Paris is only one of many now regularly operating in Europe. Canada has a passenger air service between its populous part and a new gold field in the wilds. Even the Latin-American republic of Colombia has had in operation for three years a passenger air service which reduces the old journey of ten days from the coast to Bogota, its capital, beyond mountain fastnesses, to a flight of a few hours. In view of this, how does it happen that the United States, wherein the first successful airplane flight was made, lags so far behind in passenger aviation and runs regularly only air mail carriers?

Is our public loathe to venture into the air, or is the cost of the present short air trips for passengers discouragingly high? If the latter, perhaps the Fords, father and son, will eventually solve a problem in which they are reported to be much interested. Henry Ford foresaw the era of the automobile and is now said to have as great faith in the future of the passenger airplane in America. He is now carrying mail for the government between Detroit and Chicago and is reported to be busy with plans to link the Middle West and New England by a commercial air service. He is also said to have in view the production of aeroplanes to cost only hundreds instead of thousands of dollars as at present. Unquestionably we need a Henry Ford's constructive interest in passenger aviation if we are to get abreast of a large part of the rest of the world in this particular.

TALL MEN'S ASSOCIATION.

There has been mention of both bald-headed men's associations and fat men's but so far as we know their object has been more social and sympathetic communion without any aim of influencing legislation in their interests. Possibly over-heavy citizens have been too sensitive to assert themselves in this way after taking too literally the jocular saying that "nobody loves a fat man." But it seems that the over-tall men do not hesitate to stand forth conspicuously and demand legislation for their benefit. At any rate we now have a Tall Men's Association which seems to wish it distinctly understood that its members mean business.

According to a Chicago despatch, giving an interview with Benjamin Ostlund of Marshfield, Oregon, who is six feet four inches long, the program of the new association of which he is the founder, includes relief for tall men from short beds, low ceilings, short Pullman berths and short bath tubs. It would appear that something has been accomplished already, for it is stated that hereafter the two end berths in each sleeping car will be "lengthened six inches." It is surprising that this association does not include in its demands an increase of the present height of automobile tops or roofs, for not only tall men, but short men are obliged to stoop low as they get in, often whacking their crania in the process.

If it is true, as stated, that in this athletic and advanced age the average stature of the race is materially increasing, it would seem that standard measurements in general will require alteration in the not very distant future.

FOR TEMPERANCE.

Granting the division of opinion on the wet and dry question, there is no denying that Senator Watersworth makes his position so clear that it can be understood by anybody with intelligence enough to read and write. The United States senator does not quibble, a habit of some men in public life. In this respect many who may not be in accord with his views will respect him for his courage, a possession which even opponents are bound to admire. In the face of attack he has never wavered and it is apparent he will never be charmed with hypocrisy.

In New York the other night at a meeting of business men he stated again that he is opposed to prohibition, but he declared just as definitely that he is in favor of temperance, and what he said is worthy of consideration. He mentioned the measure of hypocrisy that has been occasioned since the Eighteenth Amendment and passage of the Volstead Act, and then had this to say as to temperance:

"Surely there must be some way we can get what we want—temperance. People in other countries are doing it or coming mighty near it. We can get it, I am sure, although we may have to go through a process of evolution. Skillful control supported by the public—a control adjusted and readjusted to meet the real sentiment of the people is, in my judgment, our best instrument. And I believe about this liquor question as I do about other matters related to morals—I believe the church and the school can accomplish more than the policeman."

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M. D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.)

TWO OF YOUR REGULATORS.

You are hearing more and more about the ductless glands, those little organs that manufacture products which have a tremendous effect upon the workings of the body. They do not pour these products into the blood, but the blood collects them as it passes through. The two which have received the most attention, or at least much has been found out about them, are the thyroid in the neck, and the adrenal glands situated on top of each kidney.

Where there is an insufficient amount of thyroid glands manufactured, the different tissues seem to do their work, but do not make a real clean job of it. The result is that food is not completely digested and used by the system. This allows fat to accumulate and the body does not resist ailments very well. Naturally where too much juice is manufactured, you get your high strung individual, always on the move, and the tissues overworking themselves so much that he is usually quite thin.

The juice from the adrenal glands situated on top of the kidneys tends to regulate, to steady, or to "aid clean" job of it. The result is that food is not completely digested and used by the system. This allows fat to accumulate and the body does not resist ailments very well. Naturally where too much juice is manufactured, you get your high strung individual, always on the move, and the tissues overworking themselves so much that he is usually quite thin.

Where there is a severe cramp, due to the muscles of intestines working too hard and too fast, the adrenals slow or quiet these severe movements, thus relieving the pain and spasms.

It increases the amount of sugar the blood can use, and as you need sugar for all your muscular actions in work or play, lack of sufficient adrenals would give a feeling of weakness or exhaustion on slight exertion.

You can see therefore that adrenals are of great importance to the proper working of that body of yours.

The other little ductless glands are being closely studied, and likely as not will be known about them as we now know about the thyroid and adrenals.

Today's Story in New York History

By Frederic A. Godcharia.

"Bloody Bill" Cunningham, Cruel British Provost Marshal in New York, Hanged in London, August 10, 1791.

William Cunningham, the brutal provost-marshal of the British army in America during the Revolutionary War, was executed in England for forgery, August 10, 1791.

As this soldier was hated more than any other, not without cause, and so much of his reign of terror was during the British occupancy of New York a sketch of his wicked life should be given a place in this series of historical stories.

When Sir William Howe invaded New York city he made Captain Cunningham the provost marshal, and in the pursuance of his duties he had charge of the prisoners of war, whom he abused, starved, persecuted and murdered.

Captain Nathan Hale, who was caught as a spy, was given in charge of Cunningham to be executed. He deprived him of every comfort, even of a Bible or clergyman, and destroyed letters before Hale's eyes that General Howe had permitted him to write to his mother, betrothed and sisters, a few hours before his execution.

Cunningham was in charge of the military prisons, the particular horror of which was the "Jersey" prison. This bulk was moored at the Wallabout, now the site of the Brooklyn Navy Yard. It was called "hell afloat."

She was the bulk of a 64-gun ship, in which more than a thousand prisoners were sometimes confined at one time. There they suffered indescribable horrors from unwholesome food, foul air, filth and vermin, and from ravages of smallpox, dysentery and prison-fever which slew them by the scores.

The cruelties inflicted by Cunningham were terrible; despair reigned there incessantly. Every night the living, dying and dead were huddled together. At sunset each day was heard the savage order, accompanied by horrid imprecations, "Down, rebels, down!" and in the morning the significant cry, "Rebels, turn out your dead!"

The latter were buried in shallow graves in the sand. More than eleven thousand were so taken from the "Jersey" and buried during the war. During the period that the British occupied Philadelphia, the Walnut street prison was under the charge of "Bloody Bill" Cunningham, whose conduct there, as in New York, has connected his name with all that is detestable. There were confined the American prisoners taken at Brandywine and Germantown, many of whom died of starvation, after feeling the lash of Cunningham's whip, or the force of his heavy boot, and were buried in the Potter's Field nearby.

He committed many outrages in South Carolina in 1781, and came near ending his cruel record. He commanded a party of Tories known as the "Bloody Scout," which hovered around the American camp like vultures and picked off the patriots on forage details. The most active opponent of this scoundrel was William Beale, who formed a scouting party of Whigs, which soon became a terror to the Tories.

On one occasion Cunningham and his band plundered the house of Beale's mother. Beale went in pursuit, and approaching Cunningham, that marauder fled. The race continued for several miles, when Cunningham wheeled and shot Beale's horse dead. Beale retreated backward, during the Tory to follow. The latter, fearing a Whig ambush, rode off.

On another occasion Cunningham and his band surrounded a house where Beale and a Whig were stopping. They heard the approach of the Tories, rushed to their horses, rattled their swords, and Beale gave commands as if to a troop. It was dark and Cunningham was so mortified when he learned that they had been frightened away by two Whigs, that he swore vengeance against Beale.

During the winter of 1780-81, Cunningham led a marauding expedition into the interior of South Carolina. On this raid he killed every person he met whom he suspected of being friendly to the United States. A house which sheltered thirty-five persons was fired.

In his dying confession he made the following statement: "I was appointed Provost Marshal to the Royal Army which placed me in a situation to wreak my vengeance on the Americans. I shudder to think of the murders I have been accessory to, both with or without orders from the government, especially while in New York, during which time there were more than two thousand prisoners starved in the churches, by stopping their rations which I sold. There were also two hundred and seventy-five American prisoners and obnoxious persons gagged and hanged without ceremony, and then buried by the black pioneer of the Provost."

Why women who drive Fords should ask for Veedol

Forzol by name

TOO many women are getting too little comfort and pleasure from their Fords. Somehow or other they just don't get the easy driving and perfect control which the Ford will give.

The answer to the problem lies in oil. Not just any oil, but the special kind of oil that keeps Fords really fit—Veedol Forzol.

Veedol Forzol is not simply a different grade of oil. It is a different kind of oil designed solely for use in the Ford. It ends Ford chatter. It gives you the smooth

Will Decide on Big Bout Today

If License Committee Fails to Grant License for Dempsey-Turner Bout
Davis J. Walsh Believes That Dempsey Will Never Fight.

New York, Aug. 10.—Local experts on the subject of punched noses seem to be agreed that Jack Dempsey has proved he can accept a sock on his reformed career without distress but the winter feels that the resistance of his profile to informal alterations must undergo its real test today.

Dempsey will approach the meeting of the New York license committee with a request for a license that will permit him to fight with Gene Tunney on September 16 and there was a hot up on Broadway that the champion was due to walk right into a last one. The upstart said that Dempsey might be denied a license outright or that his application would be delayed and I am pleased to regard the statement as the best news Dempsey has had since Firpo finally stopped getting up that night.

Given two guesses, Broadway always picks the right one on its second chance.

Anyhow, the big moment was only a few hours away this morning. Cods, Phenix and West, of the committee, will have to do one thing or the other. If they say no, the punch will land full on the champion's most discussed feature and the chances are that he never will be the same. In effect, it probably will mean that he never will fight again. There has been talk of reprisals by law, the idea being that such action by the license committee must, of necessity, constitute a breach of the peace, or something.

Another suggested "out" is to take the fight to Philadelphia or Baltimore but if Tom Rickard can get away with that in the short time at his disposal, he has missed his vocation. He should be a magician and take those fixed eggs right out of the hat before they spoil. What I am seeking to say is that I think there will be neither court action nor a shift to another city if the Colonels say no.

If they say yes, Dempsey is likely to break camp by nightfall, headed for Saratoga and the final scene of training which he hopes will bring him up to the night of September 16 in fighting condition after his three years' absence from the ring. In this case, Harry Wills, whose unexpected challenge has caused all the trouble, will be holding that dear old bag again.

There are a lot of smart men who believe that the committee's answer will be an affirmative one. This theory being based on the belief that the colonels can take no other course after the state athletic commission's 2 to 1 vote in favor of the bout.

Certainly there will be plenty of pressure brought to bear in this direction. Dempsey will be there to plead his case. So will Tex Rickard, Billy Gibson, John the Sap and his brother, Joe Gum.

The best feature of the program is that the terrible business will be out of the way at last. One can't go wrong on that point.

Jeffries Says "Jack" Will Win

Former Heavyweight Champion Believes Dempsey Will Beat Tunney—Sharkey Disagrees With Him.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 10.—"Jack Dempsey will beat Gene Tunney." With a smile, James J. Jeffries, the "big fellow" who used to bowl 'em over in the squared arena, turned back to the mirror and adjusted his lights prior to appearing in an exhibition bout at a local theatre.

There was a roar from the next room and in jumped Tom Sharkey, the fighting cat.

"What do you mean by that, Jeff?" he shouted. "It's a lead pipe cinch for the leatherneck."

It looked for a moment that the historic battle of Coney Island of 1899 when the barrel chested tar fought the "big fellow" to a standstill might be repeated. But their managers interceded and another battle was averted.

"I have three good reasons for believing Dempsey will beat Gene Tunney," Jeffries explained. "First, because Dempsey is the hardest hitting fighter in action today, second because for a big man Dempsey is fast, and third, because of the fact that he is a title holder."

"That's all glib," Sharkey retorted. "Dempsey hasn't had a real fight in years; he has been out of actual training for three years. That will tell. If he couldn't put away Tom Gibbons, who never was a real heavyweight contender, he can't put away this boy."

DENY REPORT OF MISS RYAN TURNING PROFESSIONAL.

Paris, Aug. 10.—C. C. Pyle, the promoter, who wanted Suzanne Lenglen from the ranks of the amateurs, today disclaimed all knowledge of a report that Elizabeth Ryan, the California tennis player, has decided to turn professional.

"I know nothing about it, and accept no responsibility for Miss Ryan turning professional," he declared. Pyle said Suzanne would sail on the Leviathan for the United States on September 21.

New York, Aug. 10.—"I never make any statements to the newspapers regarding my private affairs."

This was the only reply Miss Elizabeth Ryan, ranking tennis star and recent conqueror of Helen Wills, would vouchsafe today regarding a report that she would turn professional and join Mile Lenglen's proposed tour of America. It was said that an offer to Miss Ryan had reached as high as $100,000.

Flies 816 Miles an Hour

A fly which travels 816 miles an hour is described by Dr. Charles Townsend in the Scientific American. The insect is known technically as Ophiomyia and is one of the lesser known flies. It flies so fast that it would be impossible to capture one while in flight. In appearance the fly resembles a heavily built bumblebee.

Tagging Major League Bases

Greenfield of the Giants won a 4 to 2 decision over Kaufmann of the Cubs when outfielder Stephenson pounced as a croquet wheel and let a ground ball roll through his legs for four bases. Jackson got four hits and the victory put the two teams to a deadlock for fourth place.

The Pirates came to life and threw the Dodgers for a 9 to 3 loss. It was Brooklyn's eighth straight defeat.

The Cardinals lost to the Braves 5 to 0 and fell back to third games behind Pittsburgh. Harry Benton was a complete mystery to the Mound City sluggers.

Cincinnati snatched the Phillies 19 to 5 after losing the first game 7 to 4. In the opener the Phils scored seven runs in the first inning and drove Denobue to the showers.

Encouraged by Koenig's error with two out in the ninth, the Tigers scored four runs but lost to the Yankees 9 to 8. Ruth hit the 36th homer and Lazzeri got the fifteenth. The Babe's clout leaving him five homers behind his 1925 record.

Cleveland kept in the swing by knocking the Senators, 7 to 5 on Speaker's homer. Walter Johnson was the victim.

Dist. Governor Talks to Rotary

Explains Ideals of Organization to Kingston Rotarians at Ladies' Night at Catskill Mountain House Monday.

Rotary ladies' night at the Catskill Mountain House Monday evening was a great success, 83 persons enjoying the trip, the dinner and the music that followed. In addition to music by the hotel orchestra Mrs. Charles H. Doty sang "Love's Old Sweet Song" and Dick Principale, leader of the orchestra, played a violin solo, "My Little Gypsy Sweetheart." Under the lead of S. D. Scudder, Jr., song leader of the Rotary Club, there was more than the usual variety of singing, whistling and humming of familiar songs.

At the close of the dinner President Hathaway asked if everyone had enough to eat and if it had been good. To both questions there was loud and fervent answer in the affirmative and to make it more emphatic and blinding everybody arose and joined in giving three cheers for the Catskill Mountain House, Mr. Van Wageningen, the waitresses, the scenery and the clear air, all of which were distinctly worth cheering for. The menu, which ran from anchovy canapés right on through soup, fish, steak, roast chicken, salad and ice cream and cake to the final coffee, all served in prodigious quantities, was worthy of an additional three cheers.

After a brief introduction by President Hathaway, District Governor Otto L. F. Mohr, who with Mrs. Mohr was the guest of the evening, delivered a brief address on the aims of Rotary. Real men and the building of real men, genuine Americanism, vision and ideals worked out into the lives of the members and lived by them, fellowship, freedom from race or religious prejudice, recognition of the rights of others regardless of sectarian or social differences were among the aims and purposes enumerated by the speaker. Progress comes to them that believe. This is a changing, improving world and we are getting wiser as more power of invention develops, but all these material things are a failure unless the spiritual and moral are linked up with the scientific and material. Rotary would have us do this and its six fundamental principles will, if lived, accomplish it. It is believed that almost everybody stopped dancing early enough to reach home some time before daylight.

Scripps Estate May Lose Power

Provided That Claim of Widow of James G. Scripps, Amounting to Ten Million Dollars, Is Either Accepted by Attorneys of E. W. Scripps Estate or Allowed by the Courts.

Hamilton, Ohio, August 10.—The balance of power in the majority of the Scripps newspaper enterprises, heretofore vested in the estate of the late E. W. Scripps, is affected in a claim against the estate on file in probate court here today.

The claim is made by the estate of James G. Scripps, son of E. W. Scripps and for many years active manager of the Scripps enterprises. More than $10,000,000 in cash, stocks and bonds in the E. W. Scripps estate is claimed by the widow of James Scripps.

Unless the claim is allowed, suit will be filed against the Scripps estate for the sum alleged to be due the daughter-in-law and her heirs, John H. Perry of New York, attorney for Mrs. Scripps announced.

Back to the claim is a story dating back eighteen years. Among the papers filed in probate court here, is a copy of an alleged agreement made between E. W. Scripps and his two sons, James and John. Both sons are dead, John dying soon after the agreement was made.

On March 1, 1908, according to the claim, the agreement went into effect. It provided that the sons receive stocks, bonds, salaries and other compensation representing one half of the added value of the Scripps newspaper properties. This, it is claimed, included a half interest in the net earnings of the various projects controlled or partially owned by the senior Scripps. An annual apportionment of profits was provided for in the agreement.

James Scripps, trained for the work by his father, became active head of the Scripps enterprises and continued in that position until his death, several years ago. It is alleged, Robert Scripps, a younger brother, came of age and entered his father's newspaper business.

E. W. Scripps died last year. Robert Scripps was made executor of the entire estate. No effort was made to distribute the profits to the estates of John and James, according to the claim.

The claim on file today is the first court action within the family in connection with the settlement of the estate. The exact amount claimed is $10,107,334.07, which is alleged to represent James Scripps's share of the profits from 1908 until the time of his death.

"If the claim is settled according to the terms of the agreement, payment must be made in stocks, bonds and cash," Perry said.

"The E. W. Scripps estate controls the United Press through ownership of 51 per cent of the stock. Part of this stock is claimed by the James Scripps estate and it follows that complete control will be lost if any part of the United Press stock is taken."

"Stock in other enterprises and newspapers will be affected in the same way."

"It is quite possible that attorneys for the E. W. Scripps estate will accept the claim as it is filed in probate court. If they reject it, the case will be taken into the federal court in the southern district of Ohio."

"Ma" Forgets Her Pre-Primary Bet

Governor Ferguson of Texas Launches Campaign to Beat Attorney General Moody Despite Her Promise That She Would Head Him Off Moody Beat Her By One Vote.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 10.—Her agreement that she would resign following the primary "if Dan Moody beats me by one vote" apparently forgotten, Mrs. Miriam (Ma) Ferguson today plunged into an intense campaign aimed at winning the run-off primary which is to be held within three weeks. The run-off was ordered when the official count showed that Moody had failed to poll the required majority by 1,179 votes.

As the first move in her battle, Mrs. Ferguson's attorneys appeared before the state Democratic committee and preferred charges that Moody had accepted contributions to his campaign funds from other candidates in violation of the Texas election laws. The attorneys also were said to have prevailed upon the committee to ignore Ma's carrying out of her resignation agreement.

Both Mrs. Ferguson and Moody were certified for the run-off.

New York, Aug. 10.—Paul Stellanino, said to be wanted in New Haven, Conn., in connection with the murder of Robert Joe Molin, "The Dixie Kid," was arrested in Long Island City today and held for the New Haven authorities.

J., is suspected of connection with De Molin's run and dope ring, and was a pal of the "Dixie Kid" prior to the falling out which precipitated at least four slayings, including that of Stellanino's sister, Antonio Morano, also a member of the gang, and finally of the "Dixie Kid" himself.

Kingston's Water Supply Pure

Treatment of Copper Sulphate To Kill Algae, Which Formed in Water Supply Causes Peculiar Taste and Odor.

Many complaints have been received at the Water Works Department during the past few days relative to a peculiar taste and odor of Kingston's water supply. The officials of the water department advised a reporter of The Freeman today that the water is absolutely pure and that the present taste and odor of the water would not last. A good rain storm would rid the water of the odor.

In explaining the present condition of the water it was stated that algae, a growth caused from organic matter, and very common in hot and dry weather, infested the water supply. To destroy this material copper sulphate treatment, which kills the algae, was used. This treatment causes spores to be thrown off, causing smell and odor. The treatment does not affect the quality of the water, which is absolutely pure. Filtration does not eliminate the smell and taste.

This condition is very common in hot and dry weather and this same safe method is adopted in all parts of the country. A good rain storm or the drying up of the reservoir would eliminate the spores.

As soon as possible her husband stopped the car and getting help nearby, Dr. B. W. Gifford was summoned and he had Mrs. Simon conveyed to the sanitarium where with Dr. L. B. Honeyford of Catskill, who also had a case at the sanitarium, attended the injured woman.

Says Her Victory Absolves Husband

Mrs. John W. Langley, Wife of Former Congressman Now Serving Term in Atlanta, Says Husband is Supremely Happy Over Her Nomination.

Pikeville, Ky., Aug. 10.—"My victory at the polls has made my husband happy. If for no other reason, that makes me happy."

Her voice thrilling with pride, Mrs. John W. Langley, wife of former Congressman Langley of Kentucky, who is now serving a sentence in the Atlanta Federal prison for alleged violation of the prohibition law, made this statement to International News Service, as she commented upon her victory in the congressional primary held in Kentucky Saturday.

She was nominated on the Republican ticket in the Tenth District for the seat in Congress formerly held by her husband. The nomination is equivalent to election.

"My victory was a victory and a vindication for my husband," she said spiritedly. "It was the second vindication for him, in fact. The first time was two years ago when he was elected by an unprecedented majority."

She read a telegram which she received today from her husband at Atlanta. It said:

"I am supremely happy. Even these gray prison walls seem to shine with the lustre of our beloved Cumberland and Blue Ridge Mountains. My love and greetings to the first congresswoman of the commonwealth of Kentucky."

Dog Runs Amuck.

Friday and Saturday at Catskill a pet fox terrier ran amuck and bit several other dogs, chickens and a cow and calf. The dog was suffering from rabies it is believed and the authorities have killed the known victims in an effort to check a spread of the rabies. It is not known if any person was bitten.

Steel Beer From Freight Car. Beer, said by those who sampled it to be very good. Served very freely in Port Jervis Saturday. The beer was stolen from a freight car, in which many kegs were loaded and which were seized by United States Secret Service Men, before they reached the Port Jervis Brewery Saturday. Four men were arrested before Justice William A. Bevana, but were discharged because no one could prove ownership of the beer.
